In the world technology sphere there is no more important need than to complete the settlement and put the difficult Microsoft litigation issue behind. Microsoft, more than any technology company, was behind the economic growth of the 1990's. When Microsoft was threatened by the DOJ, in partnership with its competitors, the economy moved toward the current recession. Microsoft will be in the forefront in leading us out of the recession. We need a timely end to the litigation, and a commitment by Microsoft's competitors to focus on competition, rather than more mutually destructive court action. Thank you, Charles R.
